About Me

My name is Anuja. I have been working in the early childhood field for more than five years, and I adore going on learning adventures with children that become a part of their childhood memories as well as their growth and development. I have a strong interest in art, math, and science, and I love discovering new things whilst being in the outdoors including but not limited to bugs, birds, flowers and animals. I am a strong believer of intentional teaching because it inspires me to create learning opportunities for the children based on their interests. In my practice, I make sure that every child has the right to participate in educational opportunities that are significant and meaningful to them, enabling them to develop greater mental independence. I work towards creating opportunities that are fun, sometimes messy, hands-on, calming and those which inspire children's creative and imaginative thinking. Through all my interactions with the children I work on promoting and cultivating their socio-emotional skills. I am looking forward to getting to know you and your children in the year ahead.
